

Understanding Precarity in BC Partnership

CALL FOR RESEARCH PARTICIPANTS

Study: Exploring the Intersections of Immigration Policy, Racism, and Precarity for Migrant Care Workers

Who: Did you come to Canada as a migrant care worker since 2012? Were you in Canada during the transition to the Caregiver Program and Caregiver Pilot Programs? Are you located in the BC Lower Mainland or Interior regions?

What: Through interviews and focus groups, we seek to understand your perspectives and struggles as a migrant care worker. We hope to better inform newer programs and policies to support you and future migrant care workers. Participants will receive a grocery gift card as a thank-you for their time.

About Us: Our research project is a collaboration with the Vancouver Committee for Domestic Worker and Caregiver Rights and researchers from TRU (Jennifer Shaw), SFU (Alicia Massie and Alice Mürage), UBC (Anita Minh) and BCFed (Kassandra Cordero). We are funded by the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada through the Understanding Precarity in BC Partnership grant.

Before you "like" this post!: We aim to keep the participants of this study confidential. Keep in mind that if you interact with this social media post by "liking" or commenting on it, other people might associate you with the study.

MESSAGE US AT
migrantcwp@tru.ca

for the
Migrant Care Workers
Project

